WANT EGAN TO REMAIN.

The Chilians Feel Kindly Towards Our Minister—Incendiary Fires in Valparaiso.

VALPARAISO, Feb. 3.—The resolution introduced in the house of representatives at Washington requesting President Harrison to recall Minister Egan was received with interest in this city and Santiago. Much surprise was expressed that such a resolution should be introduced, as the public feeling toward Mr. Egan in this country has undergone a complete change and his attitude seems now to be better understood. Minister Egan was asked what he thought of the resolution and replied as follows: "I count a full investigation of all my acts. I have no fear that anything detrimental to my reputation would be discovered. My actions throughout these difficulties have been approved by Secretary Blaine and the administration at Washington."

A crowd of young men on Monday night sacked the office of La Republica, a newspaper which has greatly opposed the present regime. The police were not present to afford any protection.

During the past week there have been many large fires in Santiago and losses estimated at $2,000,000 have resulted. Insurance agents believe they were started by incendiaries.

The naval court of inquiry has finished its investigation into the cause of the wreck of the steamer, John Elder. Captain Parry, of the Elder, was found guilty of carelessness and his certificate was suspended for six months. The certificate of the chief officer was suspended for three months.

FOUR TRACK TUNNEL

To Be Constructed by the New York and New Jersey Terminal Company.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The management of the New York and New Jersey terminal company, which proposes to construct a four track tunnel from the railroad centre, Hackensack Meadows, to the East river, New York, announced yesterday that only one additional consent was needed to give it a majority of the consent of the property owners along the line of the proposed road for the construction of the same. Little doubt is felt that the one consent needed will be specially forthcoming, so that active work upon this great enterprise can be begun at once.

MOONSHINERS.

Deputy Marshals Scoop in Three of Them After a Hard Fight.

ANNISTON, Ala., Feb. 3.—Several thousand gallons of whisky and beer and six illicit stills were destroyed in Cleburne county last Monday by Deputies Briggs and Colquit. The officers had a battle with the moonshiners, and a dozen shots were exchanged before the "shiners" surrendered. Their names are Lewis Danby, Wm. Ewing and Tom Jones.

Mrs George Judy, wife of the foreman of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is quite ill. She was attacked with la grippe some time ago and is now suffering with lung trouble

THEIR CHILD RETURNS.

Ward Waterbury, the Kidnaped Boy, Restored to His Parents—The Story as Related by Himself.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Farmer Waterbury, of West Chester county, whose little eight-year-old son was abducted on Monday, yesterday drew $6,000 from the bank which he announces he is willing to pay to the kidnapers for the return of his son. He says he will make no fuss about the matter, and is willing to let the money go if he can get the boy back. Mrs. Waterbury, the farmer's wife, is prostrated at her loss and fears are entertained that her mind may give way. This has influenced Mr. Waterbury to a great extent in his willingness to give in to the demands of the kidnapers.

A LATER REPORT.

POUND RIDGE, Conn., Feb. 3.—Eight year-old Ward Waterbury, who was kidnaped from the vicinity of this school house near Long Ridge, Conn., Monday afternoon and for whom his parents and the entire neighborhood have been searching far and near ever since, was brought home at 3 o'clock this morning by John Close, of Stamford, Conn. Mr. Close is a clam digger who lives not far from the the Waterbury place and who had heard of the kidnaping. At two o'clock this morning he was awakened by loud knocking on his door. When he opened the door he saw a little boy "Who are you?" he asked. "I'm Ward Waterbury and I want to go home," answered the child. Mr. Close took the boy in and asked him how he had got there. Ward replied that a man had brought him to the house on his back and told him to knock on the door. Then the man had run away. Mr. Close hitched up and drove with the boy to Mr. Waterbury's house, reaching there at 3 o'clock this morning. The family were all up and in great distress of mind. Their joy when the child was restored to them was beyond expression. After the boy had been hugged and kissed until everybody was tired out, he told his story.

He said two plainly dressed men had stopped him near the school house, told him he was a fine boy, and asked him to show them to a certain place in the vicinity, which he did. They then praised him again, and said that if he would go a little further with them they would treat him handsomely for his pains. He kept on with them until he was too tired to walk. Then he wanted to go home, but they roughly refused to let him go. After he had fallen exhausted one of the men put him on his back. While thus being carried Ward fell asleep in the darkness. He awoke in a small and poorly furnished house, and was fed and put to bed. The next morning (Tuesday) he found the doors and windows barred. He was a prisoner, but was well fed and treated. The man told him that as soon as his father sent him some money they would let him go.

Tuesday night he was again put to bed, and went to sleep, but was awakened in the night and taken through the woods and fields. The two men took turns in carrying him. Finally one of the men disappeared. The other man dropped him in Mr. Close's yard and said he would wait while Ward knocked at the door, but while the boy was knocking, the man ran away. The boy can not give a very good description of the kidnappers, but said he would know them if he should see them again. They seemed deeply disappointed when no one came yesterday to the house where they had taken Ward.

The boy was asked if he had seen his cousin, Charles Waterbury. The boy said he had not seen Charles Waterbury, the man who handed the letter to his father demanding ransom. A common theory is that the kidnappers were employed by Charles, who told them to let the boy go when he saw that he could not get money from the father without being discovered.

A BOYCOTT.

Carpenters' Union Inaugurate a War Against the Plant Milling Co.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 3.—At a meeting of the Carpenters' council last night a boycott was ordered on the product of the Plant Milling company, of this city. This action is taken because of the refusal of the milling company to employ union carpenters on the erection of new buildings. The company have been paying their workmen at the rate of twenty-five cents per hour, and the union scale prescribes a rate of forty cents.

CONFLAGRATION AVERTED.

An Employe Saves the Capitol From Destruction.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A lot of waste paper and rubbish in a room of the house of representatives caught fire last night, but the blaze was fortunately discovered by an employe and extinguished. The damage is slight. The fire occurred at 7:30 o'clock, when only a few employes were in the capitol, and its accidental discovery prevented what might have been a very serious conflagration.

GREEN GOODS MEN.

At Present They are Working the Susceptible in Illinois.

FAIRBURY, Ill., Feb. 3.—The green goods men are at present getting in their work in this section of the state. Their circulars have been received by many within the past few days. They always enclose the circulars of explanation which, in all cases, are unsigned. Then they have the address on a single slip of paper and an apparent newspaper clipping accompanies them. The newspaper clippings are printed as though they had been cut out of New York daily papers, the most of these showing headlines of the Sun and Times, and all of them are mailed in the New York post office. There have been received two sets now giving the address of Geo. Briggs, 256 West 115th street, New York, and of J. Schmultz, 181 Mott street, New York.

STRUCK IT RICH.

Many People Flocking to the Gold and Silver Mines at Creede, Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 3.—The excitement at Creede, Colo., the new mining camp on the Rio Grande railroad, is intense. People are flocking in from all parts of the country and a large city of rough board houses has sprung up in a short time. David H. Moffatt yesterday was offered $1,000,000 by an English company to bond the Holy Moses mine at Creede, but he refused to do so. Since the first prospect hole was started at Creede nine months ago, there has been $5,000,000 worth of ore taken from the mines there, although everything is new and undeveloped as yet. Yesterday L. Z. Dickson, Henry R. Wolcott and F. G. Wolcott, of Denver, a Mr. Ward, of New York, and Jake Saunders, of Leadville, purchased a two third interest in the Last Chance mine, at Creede, for $100,000. This mine is shipping ninety tons of ore a day, which averages $160 per ton.

Reports reached here from Boulder, Col., yesterday that two miners have made the biggest silver strike of recent years in the Orphan mine at Copper Rock, on the ridge between Bald Mountain and Sugar Loaf. The quartz is reported full of free gold. The miners and prospectors are wild over the strike, and many left yesterday for the scene.

DENVER, Feb. 3.—One of the most remarkable strikes of rich ore ever found has been made in the famous Mollie Gibson silver mine, at Aspen. A nine-foot body of ore has just been discovered, which is worth fully $10,000 a ton. The drift run penetrates a seven-foot body of ore, averaging over 9,000 ounces to the ton. From the two-foot body of 25,000 ounces of ore, huge pieces weighing 300 pounds were hoisted which were almost pure metal. Out of these big chunks have been sawed bricks, which each of the principal stockholders will preserve as specimens. The news of the wonderful strike has been kept from the public and is made known for the first time today.

DISMISSED IN DISGRACE.

The Czar Discharges a Minister for Corrupt Dealings.

ST PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—A. T. Hubbenet, privy counsellor and minister of ways and communications, has been dismissed from his place in the cabinet by the peremptory direction of the Czar. It appears that Colonel Wenderich, engaged under imperial direction in the inspection of Russian railways, found himself thwarted in his efforts to make a genuine inspection, and that the adverse influences came direct from the ministry of ways. Counsellor of State Witte, director of the department of railways, showed a sincere desire to sustain Colonel Wenderich, but was himself obstructed by his superior, Minister Hubbenet, who seemed desirous of shielding the corrupt and inefficient management of the railroad lines. Witte sent his resignation to the czar. The latter had Witte summoned before him and asked him the reason for his resignation. Witte thereupon told how he had been hampered and the work of inspection obstructed by Minister Hubbenet. The czar closely questioned Witte as to facts and circumstances, and caused documentary and other evidence to be sent for and submitted. Two hours later came the order dismissing Hubbenet in disgrace. The czar sent for Colonel Wenderich and said: "Do not mind how disagreeable they may make it for you. I am with you. Turn your back on them and go ahead thoroughly with your work." The radical action of the czar has caused dismay in corrupt official circles.

PORTERS ARRESTED.

Kansas Prohibitionists Make Charges Against Pullman Car Waiters.

WICHITA, KAS., Feb. 3.—The Pullman car porters of trains running in Kansas are in dismay over the arrest of several of their members on charges of violating the prohibitory laws by selling liquor to the passengers. Yesterday the sheriff of Harvey county arrested two porters at Burrton. Officers of the prohibition committee have been collecting evidence for some time. It is expected that arrests by the wholesale will follow. Two porters refused to go out of here on their trains yesterday when they heard of the arrest of two of their number.

A FORMIDABLE WEAPON.

A Naval Officer Invents a Submarine Mine for Coast Defense.

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 3.—A submarine mine for coast or harbor defense, the invention of Lieutenant Marshal, of the United States navy, was tested here yesterday. In shape the mine is more like a coffin than a cask, and as much of a chest iron. Its total weight is 1,000 pounds. It contains a charge of gun cotton equivalent to 102 pounds of dry gun cotton. The mine is so constructed that it may be fired from shore or by contact, at will. The test yesterday was in every way a most perfect success.

Capt. E. C. Lennon will drill Emmett Commandery this evening.

STILL ON THE ROCK.

The Elder Crew Cling to the Vessel in the Vain Hope of Rescuing Her.

LONDON, Feb. 3. The North German Lloyd steamship Elder is still ashore on the rocks of Atherfield Isle of Wight, and there is little or no prospect of her ever being afloat again, as previously intimated in these dispatches. Captain Heinrich and the twenty-five men who remained with him on board the stranded steamer throughout the night, are still holding the fort and managed to pass the night without any extraordinary discomfort. All the mail bags have not yet been landed, though eighty men of them were forwarded to London at midnight. Shortly after day break this morning the work of recovering the Elder's mails was recommenced. Strange to add, up to the time this message is put on the wires only one case of gold and not any of the large consignments of silver on board the Elder have been landed. The conduct of Captain Heinrech in regard to his passengers, mails and bullion, is causing much comment here, it being claimed that he could and should have landed them on Monday morning when the first life boat reached the steamer. On the other hand it is said the Elder's commander decided to await the instructions of the company's agents, and the latter have notified him not to land the gold and silver consignments until he can place them safely on board the salvage steamers. Two of the latter class of vessels, furnished with complete outfits of wrecking appliances, are expected to reach the Elder during the day, and everything possible will be done to lighten and float her in Southampton if possible. Captain Heinrech still holds to the belief that his steamship can be saved, but his opinion in this matter is not shared by the experts who have examined the stranded vessel.

The agents of the North German Lloyd company are even more hopeful than Captain Heinrech. They declare the position of the Elder is not hopeless, and that there is a probability that the wrecking steamers will be able to get her off after she had been lightened and the holes in her bottom are temporarily stopped by the divers who are to be put to work for that purpose. Powerful steam pumps will then be set to work, and the agents believe that the steamship will be buoyant enough to enable her to be towed into Southampton. The work of landing the mails was continued during the morning and as this message is being forwarded one hundred and fifty bags of mail matter has been safely landed. At 2 o'clock this morning the North German Lloyd steamer Havel, from New York, arrived at Southampton and took on board all the passengers from the Elder who were desirous of proceeding to Bremen. The landing of the Elder's mails will not, it is expected, be completed until late this evening.

Some of the topics selected for discussion are Railroad rates on live stock, Texas cattle fever and quarantine regulation, needed legislation on live stock interests in Texas, reckless handling and unnecessary delay of railways in handling live stock, and exorbitant charges on live stock by commission merchants and feed yards. DYNAMITE FIENDS

Blow Up a Pittsburg Street Car—The Walsall Gang Now on Trial in London.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 3.—Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester electric car No. 2 ran over a dynamite cartridge on Beaver avenue, Allegheny, at 7 o'clock this morning. The car was thrown from the track and nearly all the windows in it broken. The windows in the houses near by were also shattered. There were twelve men, employes of the company, on the car, but no one was badly hurt. It is supposed the cartridge was placed on the track by the strikers.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The six men arrested for engaging in a dynamite plot in connection with the socialist club at Walsall, were brought before the mayor's court today for trial. A mass of evidence fully detailed in previous dispatches to the United Press, has been presented in the preliminary proceedings, sufficient to form a strong case for the government and the mayor expressed the desire to proceed with the trial at once and sit daily until it was concluded. The counsel for the prisoners demurred to this course, saying that they considered it impracticable, owing to the time required for the translation of the evidence and for other reasons. This was a very important case, it was added, and required the collection of evidence from various foreign countries and the bringing of witnesses from abroad, all of which would take time. The trial is proceeding.

Sir Charles Russell, in the queen's bench, this morning moved that an order be granted to remove the Chelsea socialists' cases from the county court to the high court of Justice, and that they be tried before a special jury. Sir Charles, during the course of his argument, said that for years past socialists and others have been accustomed to hold open air meetings at the World's End square, Chelsea, and that they have not been interfered with so long as the people present behaved in an orderly manner. Recently, he added, the police seem to have thought themselves bound to interfere with all such meetings and nearly every Sunday for months past have been arresting people for alleged violations of the laws regarding the holding of such meetings. A great agitation, Sir Charles Russell continued, was involved in these arrests and the matter must be sifted to the utmost, as there was no doubt in his mind that the rights of the community had been greatly interfered with. The order asked for by the distinguished lawyer was granted.

There will also be an electoral ticket in the state next November. L. L. Polk and Leland Stanford are looked upon as the probable candidates for the presidency and vice presidency.

MAIL BAGS STOLEN.

A Bold and Mysterious Theft on a Ferry Boat.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3. Seven pouches of mail matter, mostly letters, were stolen from two mail vans last night while on the ferry boat from New York to Hoboken. The mail was mostly for New York state points. Apparently the doors of the van had been opened by skeleton keys, but there is as yet no clue to the mystery. It is thought the letters contained considerable money. It is one of the most mysterious mail robberies that has occurred in the vicinity.

MISTAKE OF A JUDGE.

Should Have Given Hendrys a Lash per to Defend Him—Saving Her Attorney—Local Courts.

A decision was handed down by the supreme court yesterday at Indianapolis in the well-known Hendrys-Calkins murder case, reversing a verdict in the Elkhart circuit court wherein Hendrys got a life sentence for killing Edward Calkins. Hendrys and the wife of the murdered man, with whom he was intimate, were charged with drowning Calkins in the St. Joseph river to obtain the insurance on Calkins' life. The supreme court decides that an error was made by the lower court in refusing to grant Hendrys, on account of his poverty, an attorney to defend him on his trial.

SUING HER ATTORNEY.

A sensational suit has been brought in the Wabash circuit court by Ella Ray, who recently obtained a verdict of $1,000 damages for breach of promise against Ed Kuner, which sum was paid to her attorney, John W. Milliner. The complaint alleges that Milliner took half of the $1,000, when he had agreed to return but 30 per cent. She demands the difference, amounting to $1,400. Mr. Milliner contends that it was plainly understood that he was to have half and will contest the action.

SUE DAMAGE SUIT.

Morris, Bell, Barrett & Morris and T. E. Ellison, as attorneys for the Horton Manufacturing company, commence an action in the circuit court against the Anthony Wayne Manufacturing company in which they ask for $10,000 damages and $1,000 attorney fees against the latter for using the trade mark of "Queen Washer." They aver that the defendant has since put on sale a washing machine similar in form and appearance and uses on it the trade mark, "Latest Improved Western Washer," which, they say, is an infringement on their trade mark. They ask for an injunction and damages.

The claim docket will be called in the circuit court, next Friday, of which fact all interested will take notice.

Judge Chapin is at Lagrange today to complete the record in the Hall murder case, in which he was one of the attorneys. The case goes to the supreme court.

The will of Victoren Frossard has been filed with the county clerk. After making several bequests of personal property to relatives, he directed that all real property be sold by his executor and the proceeds divided among his heirs. John B. Beugnot was named as executor. The will of Anthony De Wald has also been filed. He leaves all his real and personal property to his wife, Catharine, who is also made executrix. The will was executed January 20, 1892.

A PRACTICAL TEST.

Slattery's Electric Car to Be Run on Schedule Time on the Centiferre Street Railway.

It will soon be learned whether the Slattery electric car is a success or a failure.

Today arrangements are being made to place the Slattery electric storage battery car on the tracks of the Centiferre street railway for regular scheduled service to ascertain beyond a certainty whether it has been perfected so as to be a practical success. By this means the car is brought into actual service where the endurance of the motive power from the batteries can be found out.

The franchise of the Centiferre railway provides for horse cars, but the commissioners will readily grant the permission and the car will probably be running Friday. If the test demonstrates what Mr. Slattery, Mr. Kimball and many others hope for, the car will be running on all the Fort Wayne lines.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

A Baltimore and Ohio Express Train Jumps the Track.

PIQUA, Ohio, Feb. 3.—A disastrous wreck occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad a few rods west of North Baltimore depot at 2 o'clock this morning. The limited express train of three cars, carrying no passengers, was ditched by a broken switch rod, while running at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour. The locomotive and tender were crushed in to scrap iron, the cars telescoped and valuable express matter was strewn promiscuously around. The body of Engineer Jas. Manuel, of Garrett, Ind., was jammed three feet into the earth beneath the firebox and was removed at 9 o'clock. His back was broken and neck nearly severed. Fireman Hampton, of Garrett, Ind., was wedged in by the tender and was fatally scalded. As the whole thing occurred in a second, neither could save himself by jumping. Express Messenger W. D. Calahan and L. Gray, of Chicago, were in the forward car, and miraculously escaped with a few bruises. Conductor Lewis and a brakeman were the rest of the crew, and were unharmed in a car for a time, but were uninjured. A part of the express matter included $8,000 worth of silver bullion consigned to the Philadelphia mint. The switch has had bolt together by a mere thread and was evidently broken by a preceding train. The dead and injured were taken to Garrett.

WILL WE GET IT?

The Conditions Under Which the Milwaukee Bridge Company Will Remove Their Plant Here.

The Milwaukee Bridge company, whose location is the third of its kind in the United States, desires to move its plant to this city, providing some of our capitalists will furnish grounds and buildings in consideration of stock in the company. At the Wayne hotel today are Messrs. W. H. Keepers, James H. Wynkoop and R. G. Wagner, of Milwaukee, and William L. Wynkoop, of Columbus, Ohio, who represent the company's interests in presenting a proposition. Mr. Wynkoop said to a SENTINEL reporter:

"The Milwaukee Bridge company's machinery could not be bought for $75,000. The works do a business of over $1,000,000 a year, and employ on the average 200 men. We are going to stay here till Thursday night, by which time we expect to know whether or not it will justify us to move here. The citizens must be up and doing if they want the works."

The gentlemen were to have a conference with J. C. Fleming today in relation to his land north of the city, near the Catholic orphan's asylum. Other lands are kept in view also. It is understood that the reason for the contemplated removal is that, where the works are at present situated there is not sufficient space for the purpose, and that railroads have offered a big figure for the ground to make it a site for a union depot. While the removal is as yet an uncertainty, it is to be hoped that negotiations can be closed whereby Fort Wayne will gain another industry. Local capitalists must interest themselves if this end is accomplished.

EATING DOG MEAT.

Consumptives Find It Palatable and Sweeter Than Beef.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 3.—The revival among consumptives of the dog meat remedy has influenced Dennis O'Brien, of this city, to engage regularly in the business of fattening dogs for the market. Last December, Mrs. Lizzie M. Jones, of this city, in an advanced stage of consumption began eating the dog meat remedy and she had a full grown well-fatten shepherd dog slaughtered for her special use. Afterward two large Newfoundland dogs shared a similar fate, and now Mrs. Jones is digesting a watersp aniel. She favors the shepherd dog for regular diet. The dogs are carefully slaughtered by a regular butcher.

The lard is rendered and used in cooking potatoes and similar food, the oil is applied to the lungs externally, while the meat is served in various forms and generally fried. Mrs. Jones reports that the meat is sweeter than either beef or mutton and very palatable. Whatever may be the healing cause, her physical condition has vastly improved since the beginning of this strange diet, and she is practically a well woman. She reports that several ladies in this city who carefully watched its effect upon her are now testing the same remedy, and with fine results. If carefully preserved, the meat continues good for two weeks.

AN ART SHOW.

Germany Invites the United States to Participate in One.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Mr. Sherman, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, presented an invitation from the German government asking the participation of the United States in the international art exhibition to be held in Munich from June 1 to October 1, 1892.

Accompanying the invitation was a letter from the state department which said:

"In view of the number of American students of art who have received instructions at Munich and of the general interest felt in the country in the success of the proposed exhibition, the secretary of state recommended an appropriation of $5,000 to enable the department of state to organize a commission to send a creditable representation of American art at the exhibition."

On this recommendation Secretary Blaine asked prompt action, as the exhibition was to open June 1st next, and he suggested that the prompt acceptance of the invitation would tend to insure a liberal response from Germany to send her great works of art to the Chicago exhibition. Referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Colonel Withers, of Southern Confederate Fame, Commits Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Colonel John Withers, cashier of the San Antonio national bank, committed suicide at 1:30 o'clock this morning by shooting himself through the head. The weapon used was a thirty-eight calibre revolver.

The tragedy took place in a private room just over the bank. Colonel Withers was about fifty five years old and was one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Texas. He is an ex-confederate and regular army officer.

He graduated in the class at West Point with Gen. U. S. Grant and is known in military circles throughout the United States. He is regarded to be very wealthy. No cause has yet been assigned for the deed.

It is said that the republicans in the Ohio legislature have decided upon a redistricting of the state. The plan agreed upon will give them fourteen districts, the democrats five, with two doubtful.

Four more territories are knocking for admission as states to the union. They are Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Oklahoma. The first three are democratic and the last is republican. If the political division was more equal the chances of success would be better.

The custom of allowing ladies the privilege of proposing to the sterner sex, once in four years, is said to have had its origin in a statute published by the Scotch parliament in 1288. The ordinance read something like this: "It is ordained that during the reign of her most blessed majesty, Margaret, all maiden ladies, of both high and low estate, shall have liberty to the man she likes. If he refuses to take her to be his wife he shall be mulcted in the sum of one hundred pounds or less, as his estates may be, except and always if he can make it appear that he is betrothed to another woman, then he shall be free." In 1666, Queen Margaret having long since passed away, and the ladies being still clamorous for their privilege, another act was passed allowing them the right of choice every fourth year.

Charles Dudley Warner draws a beautiful picture in giving the remedy for life's ills. He says, "We are all born young and most of us are born poor. Youth is delightful, but we are always getting away from it. How different it would be if we were always going toward it! Poverty is unpleasant and the great struggle of life is to get rid of it, but it is the common fortune that in proportion as wealth is attained the capacity of enjoying it departs. It seems, therefore, that our life is wrong end first. The remedy that the Drawer suggests is that men should be born rich and old. Instead of the necessity of making a fortune, which is of less and less value as the high appetites decay, we should have only the privilege of spending it, and it would have its natural end in the cradle in which we should be rocked into eternal sleep. Born old and wealth, of course, inherit inexperience, so that wealth could be made to control life to happiness, and each day, instead of lessening the natural powers and increasing infirmities, would bring a new vigor and capacity of enjoyment. It would be going from winter to autumn, from autumn to summer, from summer to spring. The day of a life without cares, to toys and means, and every morning rubbed with the palations of innocence and youth, it is almost impossible to imagine."

Bishop Taylor, who has visited in this city and in whose honor the Taylor University is named, writes to the Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church that "Africa demands the very highest order of missionaries with high ministerial qualifications. To lay the broad foundations of our church passed mechanics and engineers apt to teach and able to develop the grand resources of this people and country, both in heart, and mind in mind and body." He reports that a new mission station has been opened at Sierra Leone, a town built north of the ogile. A church lot has been purchased at Monrovia, and twenty acres bought deep for a chapel and schoolhouse soon to be built. The Matadi post is an important one, being the starting point of the Congo railway, the site of the company's machine shops, offices and warehouses and the seat of government. In objectors the Methodist church established the first fully candidates for membership, who will be received as soon as a missionary is permanently placed over the church. Including a still the principal field of Methodist effort, however. Their Bishop Taylor says he recently purchased from the Congo state government twelve acres of ground, and as soon as the new mission steamboat Rarus is launched the force of missionaries will be increased to extend the work. At Mandy a mission cry farm of 100 acres is demonstrating to the natives the advantage of scientific agriculture. Mandy, however, is a difficult post. It is under French dominion and the French permit none but their own language to be taught in it.

The committee of the house of representatives having our relations with Chili under consideration, is that of foreign affairs of which the eminent gentleman of whom we give a portrait is chairman. Mr. Blount, who is a member for the Sixth district of Georgia, resides at Macon, while in Washington he makes his home at Willard's hotel. He is a Georgian by birth, and is in his fifty-fifth year. Mr Blount is a veteran congressman, having served as member without break since the beginning of the Forty-third congress. He has expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with Chili's answer to the ultimatum sent her by the United States. It is almost needless to add that Mr. Blount sits on the democratic side of the house.

Committee.

Judge Allen Zollars was then called on and delivered an address on the political issues of the day. The judge had not time to prepare for the occasion, yet his remarks were of a nature to convince all who heard them that he was fully abreast of the times politically. He was listened to with marked attention and was frequently applauded during the evening. Before adjournment he was given a rising vote of thanks by the members of the club for his eloquent, able, patriotic and telling address.

The attendance was very large, nearly taxing the capacity of the hall, showing that the gallant democrats of the Fourth and Fifth wards, even this early in the season, are up and doing. The club adjourned to meet February 16, when the committee was instructed to have some one present to address those in attendance.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Richard M. Hunt, Architect of the Administration Building.

The administration building at Chicago will be a poem in architecture and Richard M Hunt is its inventor. He is well known to the intelligent public, as the president of the American League of Architects and as a man ter apart in his profession. Mr Hunt was born in Vermont. When he was fifteen he went to Europe for study and the intellectual advantages of travel. While abroad he decided to be an architect. He became a student in the School of Fine Arts in Paris, and under the eminent Hector Le Lait. Subsequent extensive travel was undertaken with the view of improvement in his art. When he returned to Paris, Leford, who was architect to Napoleon III, appointed him an inspector of public works in his bureau. Mr Hunt returned to America in 1855. He was engaged on capitol extension in Washington for a time. Germany years ago numbered his name in connection with the best architectural work done in the United States. He owns a fine library of architectural works and a valuable collection of objects of art. Both will be placed in a public institution after his death.

STATE NEWS.

B. C. Hopkins, of Winchester, dropped dead while walking along the street. He was an honored citizen of that community.

Robert Offutt, employed in the Greenfield store works, while adjusting a belt, was caught and whirled until he was terribly injured.

The Chicago company has accepted the ordinance passed by the Kokomo city council and will pipe the streets of that city for gas.

Robert Rhodes, of Walash, ill of pneumonia, superinduced by the grip, sat up in a chair and partook of nourishment, after which he died.

Robert Meeks, a resident of Muncie for half a century, fell some weeks ago, breaking his thigh. The injury has caused heart failure and his recovery is doubtful.

A would-be saloon keeper at Otterbein, failing to lease a building, began the construction of one. He was warned by the anti-saloon people with out avail, and his building was then torn to pieces.

Mrs. Alice Darbyshire, of Muncie, had been ill of consumption for weeks. Yesterday her father gave her a silver half-dollar, which she put in her mouth. The coin slipped down her throat and she strangled to death.

Rev. George T. Stansbury, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lafayette, has tendered his resignation, due to lack of harmonious action between himself and the official board. The resignation has been accepted.

Mrs Thad Hoke, of Wabash, wife of the deputy county auditor, ill of the grip, but supposed to be convalescing, died suddenly and without warning. Robert Rhodes, a well known citizen, died under similar circumstances.

Rev. Jacob McCord, a pioneer resident of Hancock county, and one of its most esteemed citizens, died last Friday, and on Sunday his remains were interred in the Old Fellows' cemetery at McCordsville. Three lodges of Masons joined in the funeral procession, two aside from the McCordsville lodge, of which he was a member. Ceremonies were conducted by William C. Hamilton, worshipful master of the Oakland lodge.

George F. Harmon, who figured in a desperate tragedy in Vigo county, has been released from the central Indiana insane asylum, where he was under treatment for the past six years. Harmon lived near Parmento, in company with his wife and Wesley Carpenter, a boy for whom he cherished the liveliest regard. One evening Harmon suddenly absented himself from home, and the next evening as suddenly returned, and without explanation killed Carpenter by blowing out his brains. After shooting the boy he turned his attention to his wife, but she prevented him from reloading his gun, and finally succeeded in summoning help. Harmon is not yet fully restored to mental balance.

THEY FOUGHT WELL.

THREE VENERABLE VETERANS OF TWO FAMOUS WARS.

Murphy and Rowles Helped to Free Texas and Williams Shouldered a Gun to Fight the British Their Great Old Age.

Although fifty-six years very nearly have passed since the battle of San Jacinto, which practically secured the independence of Texas, there are still a few survivors of that conflict. General Houston's forces numbered but 800, but there was an unusually large proportion of very young and very old men among them, and each once considered it recorded the funeral announce it as that of the "last survivor of San Jacinto."

William H. Handman, who recently died at Columbia, Pa., was announced as the last, but now William C. Murphy, of Philadelphia, claims that honor. He lives with his granddaughter at 1821 Rosewood street, and at the age of eighty-two thinks he has a clear recollection of the Texan war, but when he talks of it he speaks of himself as "one of the only eight men who got out of the Alamo alive," and of Santa Anna as "a Frenchman who became a citizen of Mexico to get property left by a relative," all of which shows that he has things mixed.

He was, however, in the battle of San Jacinto, and was one of the squad who guarded Santa Anna and Almonte after they were captured. John R. Rowles, aged seventy-seven, living with his wife and a married son at 2,140 Grant avenue, St. Louis, is also a survivor of Houston's army, and his recollections are much clearer than those of Mr. Murphy. He was in the little Texan navy most of the time and took part in the action in front of Galveston which resulted in driving off the Mexican navy. Mr. Rowles and his son, aged seventeen, enlisted in the Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania Volunteers in 1861 and served three years, and afterward served eighteen years as a policeman.

Although active campaigning lasted but five months the loss of life in the Texan war was frightful—greater probably in proportion to the number engaged than in any other war of modern times. At the Alamo all the Texans, 173, were killed, and at least 800 Mexicans were slaughtered. At Goliad 330 Texans were massacred, and at Refugio and other minor battles just before Goliad at least 100 more were killed. At San Jacinto 630 Mexicans were killed, 208 wounded and 730 taken prisoner, only a few escaping. Add deaths by wounds and disease, and it appears that of all those engaged on both sides at least one-third perished.

The oldest veteran in the United States probably is David J. Williams, of Saratoga, who was born Jan. 15, 1790. He carries his 102 years remarkably well, reads with ease and talks in a clear and pleasant tone. He served in the war of 1812, and the company record says that he was then 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighed 190 pounds. He has since shrunk considerably and weighs but 140. His father lived to the age of 113. Mr. Williams has a very clear recollection of the events of his boyhood and of the war, as well as of the part he took in constructing the Erie canal. He has chewed and smoked tobacco since he was a boy and cannot remember the time when he did not drink cider hardly. He has also taken whisky in moderation. Incidentally he remarks that he has invariably voted the Democratic ticket.

SHINING MARKS FOR DEATH.

Four Noted People Who Have Crossed the Dark River.

But a few days ago the reading world was shocked by learning of the almost simultaneous deaths of Cardinals Manning and Simeoni and the oldest son of the Prince of Wales. After a brief interval the papers told of the deaths of Justice Bradley Rogers, the editor C. A. White, the poet, and several others only a little less eminent. Deaths in groups are but natural in such a peculiar season as this, when la grippe is literally slaying its thousands.

Justice Joseph P. Bradley was within a few weeks of seventy-eight years old, and might therefore have been retired seven years ago, but he preferred to remain in service and perform his duties. His career was curiously varied. He began life as a Democrat, but on locating in Newark, where manufacturing was the leading industry, he became a Whig. He was rather severe on the abolitionists and did not act with the Republicans till the civil war began. And finally, though much criticised for his action on the famous electoral commission of 1877, he sustained the views he entertained on states rights principles, and in the New Orleans slaughter house cases and other decisions his opinions as a judge were those of an old Jeffersonian. He was twice a candidate before the people and was defeated both times, so his entire active career of fifty-two years was as a lawyer and judge.

Randolph Rogers was born in New York, but reared in and near Ann Arbor, Mich., and for his education in art he was indebted to the merchant prince, A. T. Stewart. While a clerk in Mr. Stewart's dry goods store his talent was discovered by his employer, who at once advanced the money for his complete education in Rome—an act for which America owes the great merchant a debt of gratitude. Mr. Charles A. White, the famous song writer, was born on a farm in Massachusetts in 1820, and his first great grief was that his father was "too poor to buy him a fiddle." He undertook for himself out of a cigar box, and a very good one it was.

His first songs were so popular that he soon became a publisher and one of the founders of the White-Smith Publishing company. His best known songs are "Marguerite," "Come, Birdie, Come," "When the Leaves Begin to Fall" and "Put Me in My Little Bed." "Marguerite" had a sale of over 1,000,000 copies. Among the recent dead, also, is Mrs. Mary D. Lemen, for fifty years a teacher and long one of the best known women in Illinois. She was born in New Hampshire in 1811, graduated in 1834 and was sent at once to Salem, Ill., by the Baptist Educational society. During her half century there as a teacher she had among her pupils H. C. Warmoth, late governor of Louisiana; Isham N. Haynie, late adjutant general of Illinois; W. J. Bryan, congressman from Nebraska, and a long army of prominent lawyers, judges and legislators. Her maiden name was Rand, and in 1812 she married Benjamin F. Lemen, who died in 1875. She died at Neosho, Mo.

Twenty-one years ago today occurred one of the most important events in the life of William Connors, the young machinist in the Pittsburg machine shop. He is taking a vacation today to pass the cigars around and receive the congratulations of his host of friends. Mr. Connors is twenty-one years old.

At Kearney, Neb., Monday last two boys found a dynamite boom placed in a switch on the Union Pacific railroad in such a manner that it would have exploded when struck by a train. The boys found the bomb just before the east bound passenger train was due and removed the deadly missile, which was turned over to the police.

G. W. Meyers, who operates the steam hammer for Mr. Haverly in the Pittsburg shops, was not responsible for the accident to the machine as stated in yesterday's SENTINEL. A young man who is not employed in the shop took hold of the levers in the absence of the regular hammer boy and sent the cylinder head out of the engine.

Twenty lives were lost in the wreck and the deed so weighed upon the mind of the guilty man that he voluntarily surrendered to the officers and confessed.

Engineer Mast, the engineer killed at Lima, Ohio, Monday, lived in Huntington. The particulars of the accident are as follows. Mast was riding with his head out of the window of his engine, which was hauling the Chicago and Erie passenger train No. 3. At the east yards in Lima a freight car standing on a sidetrack caught him, crushing his head and knocking him senseless. His fireman did not notice his condition until the train went rushing over the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton crossing at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour when the conductor pulled the bell cord and the fireman went to the lever to stop the train. After he succeeded and the train was backed to the depot, Mast was carried to the sitting room and medical aid called, but he did not revive.

Said a veteran express official yesterday: "The Pennsylvania Railroad company gets 40 per cent of the earnings of the Adams Express company for the privilege of the express company's operating over its system, and if they do the express business themselves the income from this source will fall off at least 50 per cent."

General Superintendent of Motive Power P. D. Casanave has called to his assistance A. Atterbury, of Wilmington, Del., who will fill the vacancy made by the resignation of P. P. Lord. Mr. Atterbury is thoroughly qualified for the position, having been employed in a similar capacity on the Delaware branch of the Pennsylvania road.

Supt. W. L. Derr, of the Delaware division of the Erie lines has severed his connection with the road. Before his resignation went into effect he remitted every trainman that had been discharged or suspended by him for the past two months. In the party were twenty fire engineers, twenty firemen, twenty fire brakemen, seven conductors and five telegraph operators.

The Wabash, and the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City roads are doing a great grain business. They are turning 200 to 250 car loads of grain a day over to the Michigan Central, and when it is blockaded they unload into the elevators at Toledo. The water lines from Toledo are second to none, they running some of the largest boats on the lake. This places the two roads named greatly in the advantage when eastern lines are blockaded, as at present.

An official of the Ohio Southern said that should the report prove true that the Big Four has secured control of the Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo road, the Ohio Southern, for protection, would build north to some point in Northern Michigan, St. Joseph be, ing the best. A former survey showed that a very feasible line could be located and one which could be built at low cost per mile, and it would much of the distance pass through territory which has poor railroad facilities.

At a meeting of the Illinois Central board of directors yesterday the project of using electricity as a motive power for trains was abandoned. The special committee of directors which has been investigating the matter reported that so far as they could ascertain the development of electricity as a motive power has not yet progressed far enough to warrant the company attempting to use it in place of steam. Consequently the Illinois Central has given up all thought of utilizing electricity for the present and no change from steam seems likely to be attempted until after the World's Columbian exposition is over. The Illinois Central does not coal enough for less than $1.50 per ton. There has been some talk of a change to hard coal on suburban trains, but this is not likely to be made. Hard coal would cost $5 a ton and it would require as many tons of hard coal to run trains as of soft coal.

ATTENTION, DEMOCRATS.

The democratic county central committee is requested to meet at the court house, in the room of the county commissioners, on Saturday, February 6, at 1 o'clock p. m. Business of importance presents itself and it is important that every member of the committee be present.

La Grippe!

The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past few years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. Twenty five cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by all druggists.

"A PAIR OF JACKS"

Is the Attraction at the Temple This Evening.

J. H. Haldin's merry farce comedy company in "A Pair of Jacks" are all laughing heartily. "A Pair of Jacks" which is presented at the Masonic Temple tonight is one of the most successful comedy attractions on the road. The dialogue in "A Pair of Jacks" is said to possess more fun than is usually found in farce comedies. It is sparklingly witty and without plot or play, would of itself be exceedingly enjoyable. The story of the skit though is interesting and well told. The incidents follow each other with a rush, and there is a "go" to the piece that is irresistible. The comedy of the play is really catching. The situations are exceedingly ludicrous and there is a whirl of fun accompanying the performance that is refreshing as it provoking.

Saturday evening the amusing farce comedy "Two Old Cronies" will be given at the Temple. The play is one full of interest and will keep the audience laughing throughout.

Scene at a Restaurant (enter a peasant with his daughter). Peasant—I have come to publish the banns between my daughter Margaret and Michel Obernik."

Registrar—Very good; but where is the bridegroom?

Peasant—Well, sir, you see the case is rather peculiar. Michel doesn't care to have her, and so I thought as how, if you wouldn't mind posting his name up here for three weeks, he would somehow feel compelled like to marry her.

Registrar (sorrowfully)—Ah! my good friend, if matters could be arranged in that fashion, do you think I should have five marriageable daughters on my hands now?—Humoristische Blatter.

An Appropriate Epitaph.

Student—You say that when he died Jonson's work was not thought to be well done.

Professor—There were some critics who said so.

Student—Probably that is why they wrote above his grave, "Rare Ben Jonson."—Boston Post.

Husband—What on earth did you get that new gown for?

Wife—I expect a new servant girl today, and of course, my dear, I must receive her properly.—Cloak Review.

The Best Way.

"And now," continued the photographer to his subject, "please look pleasant."

"To achieve that desirable end suppose you lend me five dollars."—Fliegende Blatter.

Proof Positive.

THINKS THERE'S GAS.

Experts to Examine the Centlivre Well—The Object of Boring So.

Last Monday the Centlivre mineral well was "shot" with dynamite to get a greater flow of water and to the amazement of everybody a flow of natural gas followed the explosion When lit a flame shot up several feet from the mouth of the eight-inch pipe and as expected it soon decreased on account of the pressure of water forcing the gas back. Louis Centlivre thinks there is a possibility of having a fair flow of gas from the well if the difficulty caused by the water is removed. Experts will arrive here tomorrow to render an opinion and advise what steps should be taken.

THE LIQUOR CURE.

Will the Patient Relapse? What is Possible and What Impossible.

Dr. Cobleats Replies to a Pertinent Question—Something About the Accommodation of Patrons and Prices Named.

Yes, a man may relapse if he deliberately seeks out pernicious associations, and walks with his open eyes into the same pitfalls which wrought his previous ruin

He is supposed to have learned his lesson, and should avoid contagion of this sort, precisely as he would avoid small pox

WE CAN CURE A MAN.

But we cannot put into him nobility of character and love of home and family to be sure and

But the man in whom these qualities are only obscured by the use of liquor, will find them completely restored

We have lately received letters from cured patients who, previous to our acquaintance with them, had tried a half dozen advertised cures They attest that our remedy did the work effectually, where the others failed This places it in the front rank of success

The price of treatment per week is $10.00. Board is extra, and may be secured, at most desirable places, at from $5.00 to $10.00 per week, (sanitarium board invariably $10.00).

We place no restriction upon patients, and do not care whether the town council enforces the liquor law or not.

We take a man and cure him (with his consent and co-operation) right here, in the stronghold of the enemy, as it were Whisky and its usual run of allurements do not tempt the man treated by our methods.

It can be readily seen that our prices are far below the average list of such institutions

The February number of our Journal is now in press, and will soon be ready for distribution

WILL FIGHT IT.

The City Will Not Grant the Demand of Dr. Walker.

Attorney Ross, of Logansport, is in the city today to confer with a committee of the council in relation to demands recently made by his client, Dr. Walker, for $4,000 damages from the city as indemnity for the use of a "tripper" for the harness shift in the fire engine houses, which Dr. Walker claims is an infringement on a patent of his. Similar suits were brought against other cities, but only two of them were won by the doctor. A member of the council committee appointed to meet with Dr. Walker's attorneys told a SENTINEL reporter that the demand would be ignored and the city would fight the case to the highest court if necessary.
